

Hot Blues and cold brews, it don't get much better

When it comes to hosting events, it doesn't get much better than Red River. We've said it before and we'll say it again — something special happens in that little mountain town when its leaders decide they want to do something that people will enjoy.

Their latest creation, the Hot Blues and Cold Brews blues festival, was well attended and was another high note in their line-up of summer events. The Chamber of Commerce, town, conference center folks, businesses and locals should all be congratulated for another success.

In Red River, it seems they have a knack for having fun, and for celebrating the beauty and plenitude of their resources. They do a great job sharing it with everyone who travels through our part of Northern New Mexico. We hope this first-time event grows. Because we know the people in Red River, we feel certain it will.
